

DON'T:

Feed a lot of treats. If you do, reduce the food you're giving them at mealtimes.

Don't give human food snacks and treats to your rabbit. These are often too fattening for them and lead to them putting on weight.

Root vegetables (like carrots) or fruit can be given to rabbits as an occasional treat but not too often as they can be high in starch and sugar.

When you feed your rabbit, don't refill half empty bowls until they've eaten all the food.

Milo & Me

"Until one has loved an animal, a part of one's soul remains unawakened."

— Anatole France